

What we offer:

- Freedom to choose your own research subject
- Mentoring by distinguished scholars
- No teaching obligations (option to gain teaching experience)
- Financial security and academic freedom
- Financial support for research-related expenses
- Professional and personal career development
- Becoming a member of the globally respected, interdisciplinary Max Planck community made up of 23,000 researchers

Kick-start your career at the MPI-CSL and build a solid foundation for your professional future.

Our researchers go on to have impactful careers as professors, judges, policy-makers, public officials, and as leaders of think-tanks and civil society organizations.

MAX PLANCK LAW

By joining the MPI-CSL, you also become a member of Max Planck Law – a network of nine Max Planck Institutes engaging in legal research. Profit from:

- Research seminars and workshops
- Exchange with leading international law faculties
- A career development program

RESEARCH STAY

Research Stay

Not currently looking for a PhD or postdoc position? The Institute also offers fellowships for excellent scholars with expertise in our research fields. Get to know the Institute and make the most of:

- An outstanding, specialized library with approx. 500,000 books and 1,100 print journals
- A comprehensive range of German and foreign case law and literature databases
- Open access pre-print publication option via the Institute's SSRN series
- Access to in-house researchers and international experts
- Workshops, seminars, and conferences
- Well-equipped workspaces
- Fully funded follow-up PhD and postdoc opportunities

Check out our Fellowships at:
<https://csl.mpg.de/guests/research-stay>

Questions?

Just reach out to our Recruitment Officer
Dr. Annika Hampel (she/her): a.hampel@csl.mpg.de

MAX PLANCK INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CRIME, SECURITY AND LAW

Fully funded research fellowships, PhD and postdoc positions

JOIN US!

You are a passionate early-career researcher in the field of law with an outstanding academic record?

You are looking for career opportunities in an intellectually stimulating, challenging, and supportive environment?

You focus on the foundations of legal solutions and are interested in comparative and transnational approaches?

Join us at the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Crime, Security and Law in Freiburg i. Br./Germany!

The Max Planck Institute for the Study of Crime, Security and Law (MPI-CSL) forms part of the Max Planck Society for the Advancement of Science, one of the world's most distinguished research organizations, decorated with no less than 30 Nobel Prizes. With its predecessor organization having been founded in 1911, today's Max Planck Society dates back to 1948.

Experience cutting-edge research in criminal law, public law, and criminology!

What assumptions and basic principles inform criminal law? Where does the legal community stand on the adequate scope of prohibitions and sanctions in socially and culturally fragmented societies? Our Department of Criminal Law explores answers.

What are the latest trends in public security law? What challenges do security measures pose to fundamental rights, the rule of law, and democracy? The Department of Public Law explores current topics such as internationalization, digitalization, and fragmentation, but also addresses general questions of public law and legal theory, which are thrown into sharp relief in public security law.

What about individual predispositions and environmental factors that cause people to commit crimes? Innovative investigations including a state-of-the-art laboratory run by the Department of Criminology facilitate a broad spectrum of human-subjects research, e.g., by using virtual reality (VR) technology.

The Institute, with its 150 employees, is located in Freiburg, a dynamic and green university city with a 900-year history. The city in the trinational border region (Germany, Switzerland, and France) impresses newcomers with its high quality of life and international flair. Freiburg ranks third on Lonely Planet's "Best in Travel 2022" list of the top ten city destinations in the world.

As an early career scholar with an international background and a long-standing interest in the interdisciplinary study of law, I knew I would feel at home at the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Crime, Security and Law. What I did not know, but was pleased to discover when I got here, is how intellectually stimulating and invigorating it would be to pursue new ideas and cutting-edge research in my daily life as a researcher.

Dr. Sofiya Kartalova, Postdoc, Department of Public Law

We offer fully funded, entry-level PhD and postdoc positions. Check out our advertised positions or find out about our general requirements.'

Our working language is English, and knowledge of German is not an essential requirement for application.

1. Advertised positions
<https://csl.mpg.de/en/career>

2. Open applications
<https://csl.mpg.de/academic-career>

